Foreword

As the world population increases food production problems become more and more acute. By far the most important of these food products are, of course, our grains, particularly wheat. Canada, as a grain producing country of major importance, has felt for some time that some very special effort, looking to the improvement of the world's grain crop was essential in the near future, if cereal production were to hold its own in relation to the world's growing population.

Having this in mind Canada has recently been working on the organization of a World's Grain Conference and Exhibition. Invitations are being sent to all nations to participate in this event.

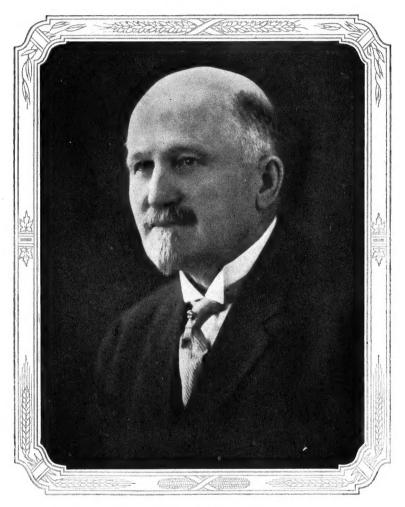

Canada appreciates the fact that she is a young country, and hopes to learn much at such a Conference, but she stands ready also to do what she can toward the general advancement of knowledge in cereal production.

International peace and good fellowship between the nations is today the universal thought. Such a Conference and Exhibition as is now being planned should surely give an impetus to this world movement.

Canada hopes to be able to welcome at this Conference and Exhibition agriculturists both practical and scientific from many nations and feels confident that much good will follow in the way of better crops of better varieties of grains the world over.

NATIONAL COMMITTEES

HE invitation to participate in the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference is world wide, and those countries intending to take part are requested to appoint National Committees.

These committees will act as a connecting link with the organization in Canada, and their formation will allow preliminary arrangements to be made between definitely responsible parties.

The personnel of these committees should be forwarded as soon as possible to the Secretary. World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, Regina, Canada.

INTRODUCTION

THE Government of Canada, the Provincial Governments, the City of Regina, the Regina Exhibition, and many of the more important business and financial institutions of the country are all definitely supporting the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference.

At a representative Conference held in 1928, the decision was reached to hold such an Exhibition and Conference. The desire to do so arose out of a unanimous opinion that some such effort should be made to bring together world authorities on agriculture, particularly those interested in field crops, and further to bring into open competition grain and other seed produced in different parts of the world. The Honourable Dr. W. R. Motherwell, speaking at the Conference, summed up the situation in the statement, "In holding such an event as a World's Grain Exhibition and Conference there are wonderful possibilities for stimulating interest in the improving of the quality of cereal crops, and in the disseminating of knowledge of how to improve agricultural conditions generally." As one writer has stated, "What is needed jumps to any observant eye—intimate knowledge of a difficult subject."

The Government of Canada has invited all countries to participate, and the importance of grain growing to the peoples of the world is something that would seem to warrant a spirit of optimism amongst those responsible for the organizing of this international event.

In the Exhibition, competitive classes have been provided for cereals, grasses, clovers, and vegetable seeds, which it is hoped will result in bringing together the finest collection of these seeds ever placed on exhibition. The prize list is generous, and in some classes allows for as many as fifty prizes. These classes will be supplemented by educational displays staged by the Government of Canada and Provincial Governments, and other countries are especially invited to stage displays of a similar nature.

The Conference is of particular importance to the producers of crops and research workers the world over. The greatest and best known experts from all countries will be gathered together for the purpose of giving their experiences and leading discussion. The good that may accrue from such a gathering cannot be overestimated.

Ample accommodation will be provided for exhibits and Conference sessions, and in addition delegates and members will be privileged to see the Regina Exhibition, which covers all branches of agriculture, and at a later date the world famous Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

The ultimate success of such an undertaking rests largely with the participants, and the Exhibition and Conference Executive will be glad at any time to supplement the information contained in this "Announcement and Prize List."

DELEGATES AND MEMBERS

The following membership classification has been decided upon to cover all who may wish to attend the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference.

Those who may be named to officially represent national, state and provincial governments; universities, colleges and teaching and research institutions; or any organized and duly recognized bodies, associations, and societies interested in furthering the aims and objects of the Exhibition and Conference.

Official delegates.

Any who wish to attend, and who may not be officially named, but wish to secure all the privileges incidental to attendance, including any official reports that may be published.

Members.

Those who wish to attend the Exhibition and Conference, but do not wish to secure copies of any official reports that may be published; and those wives and relatives accompanying official delegates and members who wish to participate but who do not wish to secure copies of official reports.

Associate Members.

MEMBERSHIP

Membership fees vary according to the class of delegate and membership.

For delegates and members, whether official or otherwise, from any country, excepting Canada, the fee will be Five dollars

For associate members residing in Canada, the fee will be Five dollars.

Special arrangements will be made with the publishers Separates of the "Report of the Conference Proceedings" for the printing of "Separates" of the papers appearing in the Report. The cost of these and further necessary particulars will be available later.

The Executive Committee may, as occasion arises, make such changes to the official programme as may be deemed necessary.

Any matters not covered by the foregoing regulations ll be decided by the Executive Committee.

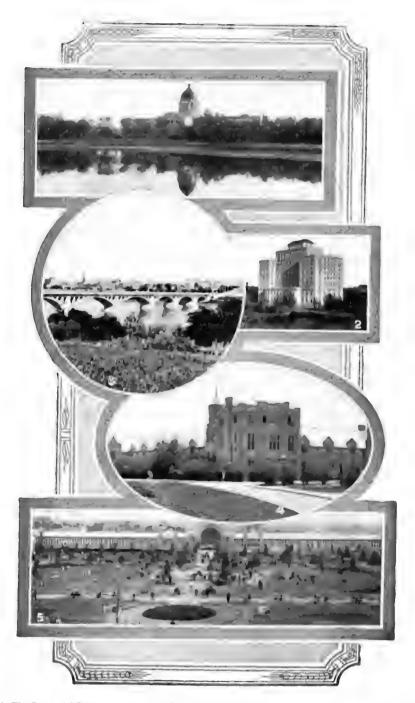

Matters not covered by regulation. will be decided by the Executive Committee.

CANADA AND AGRICULTURE

Agriculture is Canada's basic industry, and the opportunities for greater agricultural development are almost unlimited. The total land area of Canada is some 1,401,318,388 acres, and of this vast expanse 358,162,-190 acres are available for agricultural use. The last census statistics give 140,887,903 acres as the occupied farm land in 1921, which is only 39.3 per cent. of the land available for agricultural production.

In 1928 the area under cultivation amounted to nearly 150,000,000 acres, and the previous year the live stock totalled 3,421,857 horses, 3,894,311 milch cows, 5,277,927 other cattle, 3,262,706 sheep, 4,694,789 swine, and 50,178,485 head of poultry.

Canada's gross agricultural revenue in 1923 amounted to $1,397,085,000 and in 1928 to $1,730.-304,000, an increase of 23.85 per cent. The gross agricultural wealth in 1923 amounted to $7,420,-410,000, and in 1928 to $8,027,301,000, an increase of 8.17 per cent.

REGINA THE EXHIBITION AND CONFERENCE CITY

The year 1932 will mark the Jubilee of the settling of that part of the prairies of which Regina is now the centre. In 1882 the first settlers arrived, established themselves, and built a canvas town. The following year the town of Regina was declared the seat of government of the great expanse of prairie country known as the North-West Territories.

Regina was incorporated as a city in 1903, and upon the establishing of Saskatchewan as a province in 1905, Regina became the capital city of the province. The population of the city in 1903 was some 3,000, and today it is over 60,000.

Surrounding Regina is probably one of the finest grain growing districts in the world, and the province of Saskatchewan, pre-eminently agricultural, is the greatest of Canada's grain-growing provinces.

As an illustration of the importance of Regina as a distributing centre, farm machinery may be instanced. In 1928 the sales of this class of product amounted to $35,000,000. For those who like banking figures it may be stated that the Bank Clearing House Association was established in Regina in 1909, and the next year the clearings amounted to $50,739,159. In 1928 the clearings were $312,089,797.

A city of homes, marked by fine public buildings modern to the last degree, Regina offers everything one would expect to find in a city chosen for the holding of an international event of the magnitude of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference. Amply supplied with hotels, restaurants, camp sites, and everything the traveller can possibly require, Regina makes the ideal city for such an event.

Members and delegates will find the city thrown wide open to them, and a city from which they will be able to view the famous wheat lands, and examine what is probably the world's finest grain growing soil—the virgin prairie, millions of acres of which are still unbroken.

The Regina Exhibition grounds, where the Exhibition and Conference will be held, are ninety acres in extent. They are within walking distance of the centre of the city, though those who prefer may use the electric railway which runs past the entrance to the grounds. The buildings are quite adequate to house the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, and no expense will be spared in the staging of the exhibits. Delegates and members will also be able to see one of Canada's provincial exhibitions in operation, because the Regina Exhibition will run concurrently with the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference.

Space will not permit any further descriptive or statistical information regarding the Exhibition and Conference city. It is sufficient to say that no better example exists of what might be termed a growing city set in the midst of a country unsurpassed in agricultural possibilities and potential wealth.

NATIONAL EXHIBITS

The Executive Committee wishes to make the Exhibition international in its scope, and is setting aside adequate space for the participating countries to stage National Exhibits.

The primary purpose of such exhibits is to graphically illustrate the part played by education, research, and economics in the development of all phases of crop production and marketing. Each National Committee should use its own discretion as to the best means of demonstrating these features from a national standpoint. It is recognized that such exhibits will also afford an opportunity for the bringing of general national features of participating countries to the notice of the public.

Free National Exhibit space. Participating countries will be granted a free space of 15 feet by 15 feet (4.5 meters by 4.5 meters). Additional space may be secured at the rate of $5.00 per running foot (0.3 meters) frontage.

Time for applying for space.

Applications for space should be made as early as possible. The Executive Committee cannot guarantee the favourable consideration of applications after September 1st, 1931.

Erection of stands.

Stands for exhibits will be erected by the Executive Committee, to an approved design, the cost being charged to the National Committees concerned.

Exhibits for countries not personally represented. The Executive Committee will be glad to arrange for the staging of exhibits on behalf of National Committees unable to be personally represented at the Exhibition and Conference, providing the Committees concerned undertake to pay all expenses incidental thereto.

Assistance in staging Exhibits. If assistance is required in staging National Exhibits, the Executive Committee will provide the necessary labour at current rates.

Advertising

No advertising of a commercial nature will be allowed on National Exhibits.

Plans of space. Plans of the space available for National Exhibits will be provided on application to the Exhibition and Conference Secretary.

Stand plans and other details. Plans of the stands for National Exhibits, with details as to material and colour, and all other details necessary for the staging of National Exhibits will be forwarded on application.

Customs Duty.

All exhibit material bearing the official tags issued by the Executive Committee and addressed to the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, Regina, Canada, will enter Canada duty free, but in the event of material being sold in Canada duty will be collectable according to the then prevailing tariffs.

Responsibility.

The Executive Committee will not be responsible for the loss of or damage to exhibits from any cause whatever. Exhibitors show at their own risk in every respect. The Executive Committee will take the usual precautions to prevent damage being done to exhibits during the Exhibition.

Matters not specifically stated. The Executive Committee will decide upon any matters not specifically covered by regulation.

COMMERCIAL EXHIBITS

The Executive Committee has set aside a limited amount of space for the staging of commercial exhibits of interest to those engaged in the production and marketing of field crops.
